

Hunting Park Community Garden

A component of the Hunting Park Revitalization Project

The new community garden at Hunting Park contains numerous plots for local residents and families to plant flowers, fresh vegetables and herbs. It includes raised beds for elderly residents to garden in plots with greater ease. The community garden will have multiple benefits, including: supporting new opportunities for youth engagement, bringing opportunities for healthier eating and more active living for residents, and improving park safety.

The Hunting Park Revitalization Project is made possible by the following supporters: Cindy and John Affleck; Citizens Bank; City of Philadelphia; The Honorable Darrell L. Clarke; Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; Convergence Partnership Fund of the Tides Foundation; Edith R. Dixon; FMC Corporation; Hamilton Family Foundation; KaBOOM!; Patricia Kind; Laura and Marc McKenna; The McLean Contributionship; NFL Grassroots; Philadelphia Parks and Recreation; State Representative Tony Payton; The Honorable Maria Quinones-Sanchez; Robert Wood Johnson Foundation; The Ryan Howard Family Foundation and USTA.